Nothing brings a smile to a beekeeper's lips like finding a good-looking queen surrounded by her court and knowing she is homebred. Today the number of small-scale beekeepers is increasing and the demand for locally raised queens is growing.

This course will teach simple methods for raising healthy honeybee queens. With a few insights and a small amount of equipment, the backyard beekeeper can raise locally adapted queens with a record of winter survival, good temperament, and excellent honey production. Invest an evening in your honeybee future. Help your bees and help the future of the honeybee. Rear a Queen.

The instructor, Larry Krengel, began working with bees in 1984 and has been teaching beginning beekeepers for the past 15 years.
